Professional Expertise

Research themes and methods

- Sustainable livelihoods, livelihood strategies and household economic portfolios in rural development in Latin America East Africa and the USA.
- The economics of coping and adaptation to climate variability. The economics of risk in agriculture and rural communities of developing countries. Household and intrahousehold economics. Gender analysis.
- Social dimensions of development: networks, social capital, local knowledge and access to information. Collective action in management of resources and technology adoption.
- Social science methods for assessment of agricultural research. Ex-ante and ex-post impact evaluation.
- Interdisciplinary research that integrate biophysical and socioeconomic approaches to evaluation of household strategies in agropastoral and crop-livestock systems.
- Qualitative and quantitative research methodologies. Survey design methods.
- Micro and macro models for policy analysis.

Capacity Building/Outreach

- Strengthening social sciences research for development in national agricultural research institutions. (Kenya, Bolivia, Peru, Uganda)
- Evaluation methods (ex-ante and ex-post) for investments in research, and for research priority setting. (Indonesia, Kenya, USA)
- Collaborative research and development activities with international and developing country institutions. (Bolivia, Peru, Mexico, Kenya, Indonesia)

Teaching and Advising

- Undergraduate courses in World Agriculture and Food Systems; International Agricultural Development.
- Graduate teaching in International Agriculture Development Policies, Trade, and Peasant Household Economics.
- Advisor doctoral, masters, and undergraduate thesis projects.
- Graduate Interdisciplinary Minor in International Development.

Major Research Projects

1999-2003 Lead PI Project “Climate Variability and Household Welfare in the Andes: Farmer Adaptation and Use of Weather Forecasts in Decision Making.” National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, USA. Andean communities of Peru and Bolivia.

1998-9; 2001-4 CoPI Social Sciences “A Flood Plain Analysis of Agroforestry’s Physical,

- Biological, Ecological, Economics, and Social Benefits in Missouri” CAF, MU.
- 1996-2000 Principal Investigator “Women Leaders in Rural Development Mexico.” MIAC and the Gender Area of Colegio de Postgraduados, Ford Foundation, Mexico.
- 1995- 1997 Principal Investigator, Social Sciences Small Ruminant Collaborative Research Support Program. Kenya and Bolivia (since 1994).
- 1991 - 1993 Co-Investigator Sociology and Economics, Small Ruminant Collaborative Research Support Program. Bolivia and Indonesia.

Other Professional Activities

- 2003 Client-Oriented Agricultural Research and Dissemination Project in Uganda. Lessons Learnt External Evaluation Panel, for Agrisystems Ltd. External evaluation funded by the Department of International Development.
- Theme Co-Chair, Cambio de Colores (Change of Colors) in Missouri 2004: Gateway to a New Community. A Latino/as in Missouri conference, St Louis, MO. March 2004.
- Organizing Committee, Cambio de Colores in Missouri 2003: Urban and Rural Communities, Kansas City, MO. March 2003.
- 2002 External Evaluation Panel Review Member of Collective Action and Property Rights Initiative of the CGIAR. FAO.
- Co-Chair Cambio de Colores in Missouri: A Call to Action. Conference of Stakeholders on Immigration of Latino/as to the Midwest. Columbia, MO. March 13-15.
- Sustainable livelihoods, household economic portfolios and climate variability training at Advanced Training Institute on Climate Variability and Food Security. Intl. Research Institute for Climate Prediction. Palisades New York. July. Mentor START Project G. Baigorria, "Early Climate Warning to the Andean Farmers: Linking Seasonal Forecast Information to Integrated GIS & Biophysical Models." Completed 2003.
- 1998- 1999 Technical Advisor, Social and Economic Dimensions of Farming Systems Research Evaluation in Kenya. Department for International Development, UK
- 1997- 1999 Technical Advisor, Institutional Strengthening Social Sciences Research, Kenya Agricultural Research Institute; Monitoring and Evaluation; Gender Analysis. NARP II. USAID short course quantitative methods for social sciences research in agriculture, Kenya.
- 1996 Organizer, “Participatory Planning by Objectives in East Africa for the Regionalization of the Small Ruminant CRSP Dual Purpose Goat Component.” Participating National Agricultural Research Organizations from Uganda, Kenya, Tanzania, and International Centers. KARI, Nairobi.
- 1994 Short course on Social Sciences for Agriculture, Impact Assessment, and Research Priority Setting in Kenya. National Agricultural Research Project NARP II, USAID.
